WARD'S

Patent Grapple.

THIS GRAPPLE WAS INVENTED BY

Moses N. Ward,

OF BANGOR,

And was patented December 8th, 1868.

IN STRENGTH, SIMPLICITY, and FACILITY OF USE, it is far superior to any thing of the kind ever invented.

It is now in use in relation to every form of wharf, to which it is thought to be applied, taking a cargo in bags of lime, barrels, boxes and bales, with equal facilities.

No Mill, no Vessel, no Store nor Store House, should be without it.

It is indispensable to every ship builder, and every wharf builder. If time, the Grapple is invaluable wherever there are heavy objects to be handled, hoisted and moved.

All persons are invited to call and examine these instruments at the office of the manufacturers.

EVENING DESPATCHES

Washington Matters.

NEW YORK, May 28.

New York special have the following from Washington—

A Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic visited the President this morning and extended to him an invitation to be present at Arlington on Saturday next, at the ceremony of decorating the soldiers' graves, which the President accepted, and said he would be present.

Considerable anxiety has been felt for three days of General McMahon, United States Minister at Paraguay, and fears are expressed that he had been either put to death by Lopez or deprived of his liberty. These fears were strengthened by the letter of ex-Minister Washburn and the fact that the State Department has received nothing from General McMahon for several months.

The State Department has received a dispatch from General Webb, Minister to Brazil, stating that General McMahon is in Asunciona and in good health, but nothing has been received from him direct. It is probable that his dispatches to the Government have been withheld by the South American authorities.

Some time ago the accounting officers of the Treasury Department notified Gen. G. T. Beauregard, who was at the 20th instant the war Major in the Army and Superintendent of the West Point Military Academy, that he was charged on the books of the Treasury Department to the amount of $1050 in his account for the Quartermaster's Department, and requested him to pay the same. On the 20th instant Gen. Beauregard replied from New Orleans, including account, amounting to $1[illegible] for transportation from West Point to New Orleans in January and February, 1861, in obedience to orders from the War Department, relieving him from duty as Superintendent of the Military Academy, and sending him back to New Orleans, his former post. General Beauregard says he presented this account to the proper officers in New York, the Quartermaster here doing out of funds, but it was not paid, and thus not paid been paid. His requests the Department to deduct the amount of $40.50 from $1050, and remit him the remainder, which are unwonted. He closes by saying his resignation was accepted from the military service of the United States on February 20th, 1861, and signed himself the President of the New Orleans, Jackson, and Great Northern Railroad Company. The quotation was referred to the proper legal officer of the Department, who has decided adversely to the claim of $40.50 in accordance with the positive decision of Congress, approved March 2d, 1867, to prohibit the payment by any officer of the Government to any person not known to have been opposed to the rebellion and in favor of its suppression.

Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, May 28.

Mayor Wolcott of Mississippi, who came here as representative of a large portion of the people of that State, had a long interview with the President this morning. It is stated that the desire for reconstruction was unanimous, and with the disenfranchising and test oath and the military clauses submitted to a vote, the constitutional amendment would be adopted by a large majority. The President said he would do all in his power to suppress the Klan, and the policy laid down in his recent speeches.

The President said that the people of Mississippi was just as loyal as any other State, and would be found so if they were allowed to do so. The amendment would be issued in a few days, and the election would take place in September. Upon the election in the State depends the action of the Congress, and perhaps one of the principal parts of the reconstruction will be submitted separately.

Japanese Immigrants.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.

Three Japanese families have arrived here under the auspices of the Japan Charity Society, and in behalf of Japan. The women arrived from Otaro in consequence of the troubles in the Northern Princes. The women are delicately formed, well educated, and of a high order of intelligence. The men are all of the middle class, and intend purchasing Government land for immediate cultivation. It is not improbable that several of the Northern Princes will follow, and bring many more industrious families.

Terrible Accident from Kerosene.

NEW YORK, May 28.

A terrible accident occurred last evening in a house on 6th Avenue, between 50th and 51st streets. A little girl of 13 years named Franklin Blanm, attempted to fill a Kerosene lamp while lighted, when it exploded, throwing the burning fluid over the girl and two other children, Geo. Hillman, aged 6, and Clara Blanm, aged 3. The children were seriously burned and the mother's injuries pronounced fatal by the physician called to attend her.

New York Money Market.

NEW YORK, May 28.

Money quiet and easy. Foreign Exchange remains steady. Commercial bills scarce. Comparatively few bond bills offered. Gold assumed a firmer tone this morning, owing to cable telegrams about Alabama claims as well as those from Washington stating that the President and Secretary of State sympathized with the Cuban insurgents. Sales before the board were at 137½ to 137¾, which followed by a jump advance to 138 and after a reaction to 137½ recovering to 137¾. Government bond market quiet and steady. Miscellaneous shares higher and more active.

CABLE NEWS.

U. S. Bonds in Frankfort.

London, May 25. The Times this morning in its money article, says the chief business in the United States bonds at Frankfort is done in the issues of 1862. Scarcely any business is transacted in the other kinds.

Madrid, May 23. The Papal volunteers have sailed from Cadiz for Havana. By the advice of her friends, Isabella has decided to abdicate the Spanish throne in favor of Asturias.

Marine Disaster.

QUEBEC, May 28.

Intelligence from below announces the total loss of ship Zotus, Capt. W. Taylor, and ship Margaret, both of Aberdeen, at Caribou Island, off Anticosti Island. All hands were lost, with the exception of the mate of the Margaret, who arrived here last night.

Society of Army of the Potomac.

NEW YORK, May 28.

The Executive Committee of the proposed society of the Army of the Potomac, made arrangements with several of the Railroad Companies for reduced fare, for the accommodation of those attending the reunion in this city the 5th of July next.

The Public Debt.

NEW YORK, May 28.

The Post's Washington special says the public debt statement for May will make almost gratifying exhibit. The receipts from Customs up to the 25th reached $12,549,038, and from Internal Revenue, $17,052,434. The total expenses of the Government for the same period were a little over $10,800,000, showing a reduction of the debt of $12,900,000. The amount of coin in the Treasury has diminished nearly since the issue commenced. There are now in the Treasury, $20,536,000 in coin, and a currency balance of $13,681,000.

Republican State Convention.

The citizens of Maine, who endorse the policy enunciated in the INAUGURAL ADDRESS of President Grant, and who are in favor of a judicious and economical administration of State and National affairs, are requested to send delegates to a Convention to be held in

NOROMBEGA HALL, - - BANGOR,
THURSDAY, JUNE 24th,

At 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor and to transact such other business as may properly come before the Convention.

The basis of representation will be as follows.—Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and one additional delegate for every seventy-five votes cast for Joshua L. Chamberlain at the Gubernatorial election of 1868. A fraction of forty votes will be entitled to an additional delegate.

No person will be admitted as a delegate from any town outside of the County of which he is a resident.

The State Committee will be in session at the reception room of the Hall, from 9 o'clock until 11 A. M., for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates, and to hear and determine all cases of contested elections, subject to modification by the Convention.

Memorial Day.

The thirtieth of May being the day set apart by the Grand Army for the ceremony of decorating the soldiers' graves, and that day falling upon Sunday, Saturday will be more generally observed. In this city, today will be a holiday, our people to the forenoon participating in the decorations at Brewer, and in the afternoon at Mt. Hope, as will be seen by the circular elsewhere.

No word of ours could add to the unanimous of the occasion, nor we trust, to the sense of duty devolving upon all to honor it with their active co-operation. None can forget the patriotic zeal that filled the national pulse when the news came over the wires that the first traitor had fired upon the flag and assailed the national honor.—None can forget with what alacrity the men of Maine flew to the front to perform their part of the duties of saving the Union and of preserving and improving our institutions. None can forget the breathless anxiety with which they hung upon every Southern breeze for the report that was to be their weal or their woe, the tears with which their hearts went out at the sound of disaster, the universal joy that welled up when the great war was over, and victory had crowned our sacrifices. None can forget that to each and every one of these dead soldiers whom we honor to-day, we are indebted for all of liberty, and happiness, and peace that we enjoy and shall enjoy in time to come.

Let us give one day to the memory of the heroes who gave many days to us, in fearful carnage and suffering, and gladly gave their lives for the honor that can only follow men to the grave and live in the hearts of a grateful people.

The Test of Honest Intelligence.

In the Whig some days since there appeared an item showing that one means used by the rebel Democracy of Mississippi to defeat the constitution was to counterfeit the appearance of the Republican ticket and thus deceive the ignorant negroes. The Standard picks up the item with the evident relish of one whose only political test is color of the skin regardless of the black-est heart, makes a very lumbering attempt at being funny where it looks every requisite, and is evidently shocked at the false sensibilities at such ignorance in the negro displays.

We have never conceded the fact, nor has the Republican party, that the negroes of the South are ignorant, and many of them, without the influence of the better classes to guide them, would be unfit for self government. While the Democratic party take every occasion to decry the ignorance of the negro with ill concealed glee, they overlook the fact that they are responsible for this ignorance! It is too late in the day to allege that the negro has not intelligence enough to acquire education if left free to act; it is an undisputed fact that wherever they are able to command the facilities, they are as apt to acquire education as any other class, and are superior to many classes in our Northern cities. Up to the time of their emancipation from Democratic slavery, they not only had no facilities for education, but a review of the records of leading South-Democratic politicians will reveal the fact that they legislated directly against the education of the colored people. It was the boast card of the Democratic party,—and even now, it plays it wherever it can with safety,—to keep the people in ignorance. They knew too well the baseness of their slave, else why was it necessary to legislate ignorance in order to control them? The best confession of a man's own inferiority is his attempt to repress the ambition of his neighbors, and in this the Democratic party has established its strength to be in the ignorance of the masses!

It is therefore unnecessary to deny that any community where the Democratic party has held so complete control as at the South during the rebellion is cursed with ignorance. But we do deny that the South is exceptional. Wherever you find the Democratic party strongest, there you will find the most ignorance. It matters little whether the skin is white or black; the rule is universal in this country. In Kentucky and Delaware and in all the large cities where the Democratic party predominates or where it is most powerful, the voluntary ignorance of the masses is notoriously disgraceful. The fact that the ignorant, degraded, vicious, portion of humanity forms about the Democratic party, a seething mass of crime is so plain that the Democratic leaders now shoulder in silence at once the responsibility and the infamy. The more consistent of them have ceased even to gloat publicly over the ignorance of the negro as of the white man, in the correct view that it is glorying in their own shame.

It is our misfortune that a large number of voters in the South are ignorant through former control of the Democratic party.—But the Republican party does not propose to perpetuate that state of things. No sooner does it gain a foothold than it turns its first effort to the encouragement of honest intelligence. It is not a plank of the Republican party to retain its hold through enforced ignorance and consequent crime, and before many years, if the Democracy fails of its purpose, the negro communities of the South will be far in advance of the Northern communities, where Democracy controls the people. The most effectual weapon of the Republican party is the common school, and wherever they build up those civilizers, the blight of Democracy must retreat. The intelligence of its leaders can only make this retreat more disgraceful to them while it elevates their subjects to a better level. The Republican party is endeavoring to lift the people everywhere out of the darkness of Democratic ignorance and crime, and this is the great point upon which the Democracy take issue and must surrender as they become enlightened.

Report Upon the Water Supply.

BANGOR, May 27, 1869.

To the City Council:

The joint special committee raised for the purpose of examining and reporting what sum the city of Bangor can equitably pay per annum to the Bangor Water Company for a full supply of water for fire and other corporation purposes, have carefully considered the same, and hereby submit the following report:

We understand the Bangor Water Company propose to introduce a new system of pipes in the city and to distribute it through a system of street pipes as extensive as the present system of reservoirs, and further we understand they propose to erect a reservoir of such height with pipes of such size and strength that hydrants erected by the city within the present limits of the reservoirs may receive the efficiency equal to a steam fire engine. The estimates we make are based upon the expectation and condition that the water works to be made in the manner we have stated.

An examination of the expenditures of the city for the past five years shows an expenditure in the Fire Department:

For the year ending March, 1865,	$17,218 8[illegible]
For the year ending March, 1866,	19,788 8[illegible]
For the year ending March, 1867,	16,[illegible]30
For the year ending March, 1868,	19,069 21
For the year ending March, 1869,	17,621 67

A portion of these expenditures [illegible] found in the salary and contingent funds.

In the expenditures of the year ending in March, 1869, is include $1,[illegible] for bills not paid until after the books were closed for the year.

In the expenditure for the year ending in March, 1867 is included $23,000 for building the new engine house and purchasing the lot. We include the expenditure in our estimates for the [illegible] the expenditure will probably be necessary in the immediate future, and especially the city should this year, in accordance with the recommendation of the Chief Engineer in that proposal be made by the City to the Bangor Water Company to pay that Company the sum of $20,000 annually for the term of five years for a full supply of water for fire and all other corporation purposes, provided said Company erect water works of the character set forth in this report, and provided said Company furnish and erect 50 hydrants at such points as the City may determine, the City to have the privilege to furnish and put down, at their own expense, an additional number of hydrants, not exceeding 150 additional hydrants; and provided, further, that said Company will bind themselves by contract to sell said City their said water works at any time within three years after said works are completed and in running order, for the cash cost and ten per cent added, if the City shall desire to purchase the same, and provided further, that said City shall have the privilege, at the end of the said five years of renewing their contract, if they desire it, at a price not exceeding $20,000 per annum, for a term of fifteen years or less. As the City may desire.

The New England Anti-Slavery Society met Thursday in Horticultural Hall, Boston, the President (John T. Sargent) presiding. Wendell Phillips read a series of resolutions expressing satisfaction with the progress of the nation toward justice and liberty, regarding the 15th amendment as a step in advance to the negro's political emancipation; urging Christian men to put forth effort to secure to the (negro) equal privileges in churches, hotels, and place of amusement; recommending martial law and military occupation in Southern districts where civil law fails to protect Union men from assassination, and urging on the first duty of the Government at to secure peace and safety of all in property at the South, in order that school, capital and men may be attracted there to complete the reconstruction of those States.

Phillips proceeded to congratulate his hearers at length on the political situation, insisting that the emergency yet requires active and watchful efforts of abolitionists.

Several speakers followed Mr. Phillips, all in accordance with the resolutions, and full of hope for the future. The attendance was small.

The Boston Journal objects to our opinion that it is not to be good for the politics of the party that it is to be a fault in our eyes. It might be well for the Journal to consider how far defeat, while Democratic principles are hide-bound, is to be deprecated. It may be good for us to keep to obtain a record of a poor cause, you know.

Commercial Convention

NEW ORLEANS, May 28.

In the Convention today, lengthy and interesting reports were submitted by the Committees on foreign commerce, postal subsidies, and gulf harbors. The committee on foreign commerce and postal subsidies favor the creation of ports of entry at all principal cities of the Mississippi and its tributaries; enlargement of the canal at the falls of the Ohio river by the national government and postal subsidies to establish a line of steamers between New Orleans and the principal cities of Europe and America. The report also embodies resolutions to memorialize Congress to complete the survey ordered in 1850 with the view to the construction of a canal across the Peninsula of Florida, and also favoring a canal and inter-oceanic communications across the Isthmus of Central America.

Terrific Storm in West Virginia

WHEELING, West Va., May 28.

About 3 o'clock this afternoon the most terrific rain and hail storm ever known in this vicinity passed over this city, lasting about twenty minutes. The hailstones were as large as eggs, and some were as large as a man's fist. The number of panes of glass broken is estimated by thousands. Two losses of two hotels are estimated at $2000. Vine yards on the island, and the hills surrounding the city, are greatly injured, and the fruit and shade trees are torn up by the roots or completely stripped of their foliage. The iron roof of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Depot was blown off. Many accidents are reported, but no lives lost. The belt of the storm did not extend more than a mile above the city. Loss variously estimated from $20,000 to $60,000.

To the Editor of the Daily Whig:

Is the new political movement the result of a sincere desire to promote the temperance cause? This is a proposition carefully to be considered. The threatened division of the Republican party arises simply from an honest difference of opinion as to the best method of securing the same result, viz—as to whether a Constabulary act would result in a more efficient enforcement of the Maine Law than the method provided for under municipal authorities; and upon this question it is but fair that all good temperance men should be allowed to differ, especially as some of the best temperance lawyers in the State believe such an act unconstitutional, and if so, an infringement upon municipal rights. This, in fact, is all the difference between the temperance organizations and the Republican party; and as the Maine law is now being enforced throughout the State, there can be no cause of complaint. If, then, the primary cause of the movement be a love of temperance, would not that great ruling passion inspire those devoted to the cause with a desire to harmonize the minor differences of opinions, and in case the Republican Convention should select a candidate in favor of enforcing the law, with which both parties are satisfied, cheerfully support the nominee instead of violating long established usages, which must, to say the least, jeopardize the temperance cause, as well as the great Republican cause in the State? The least that could be expected of the new party proposed, in case of such a nomination, would be that they should ascertain whether the nominee would, or would not substantially carry out their views before taking the fatal step.

It is quite unfair, still to charge Gov. Chamberlain with a desire to obstruct the temperance movements in the State, as he has done all in his power to have the law enforced, and if the Legislature did not see fit to enact a Constabulary law it is not his fault, as he had no control over the doings of that body; and this is equally true in regard to capital punishment, about which so much has been said. It is equally absurd to represent Gov. Chamberlain as not a practical temperance man. But few public men have ever equalled him in this respect.

We believe that both prudence and duty demand a perpetuation of that union which gave victory to our arms during the late rebellion, and which has established us, as a State and nation, upon a permanent foundation of national strength and greatness. Moreover, we owe it to the memory of the patriot dead, as well as to the surviving heroes of the many hard-fought battles.

Temperance men, misconstrued in order for political purposes, cannot long stand before those who are true in principle and ever devoted to that which is right.

City Affairs

At an adjourned meeting of the City Council, held on Thursday evening last, the following business was transacted:

Petitions presented—

Of George H. Godfrey, for change of the course of the sewer on Harlow Street.

Of Bacon & Hopkins and als., for leave to put out a bank window in building on the wharf in the rear of "Exchange Block."

Of I R Clark and als, for a concrete sidewalk on the east side French street, from Penobscot street to Somerset street.

Of Abner Paine and others for 10th street to be made.

Of N M Cryan and als, for the repair of Black street.

Of S Bradford for allowance of claim for damages caused by defect in highway.—Severally referred to the committee on streets and highways.

Of E F Baldwin, for a sewer on Broad street—referred to the Mayor and Street Commissioner.

The claim of Mrs M Y Emerson, for destruction of her house torn down by the Fire Department at the fire of January 1, 1869, was referred to the Committee on City Property and the City Solicitor.

Orders passed—

Instructing the Committee on streets and sidewalks to inquire and report if any person has encroached on the city's property by laying concrete walk, and if any person has been authorized to lay such walks by the city or any member of the City Government.

An order was passed by the Common Council, modifying so much of the order passed on the 17th inst. as directs the Commissioner of Streets to lay a cross-walk from the Garland to Ur. Congregational meeting-house across State on Square, but was laid on the table in the Board of Aldermen.

An order was passed by the Board of Aldermen for the Mayor to draw his order for $300, to aid in paying the drinking fountain at the Soldiers' Lot, which was concurred in by the Common Council.

The special committee on the subject of a supply of water for the city by the Bangor Water Works Company made a full report thereon, which is published at length in another column.

The committee on petitions reported adversely on the prayer of I S Johnson and als, for extension of Parker street to Main street—and said petition was granted leave to withdraw.

Adjourned to next Monday evening at 7½ o'clock.

In Convention of the two Boards of the City Council, Albert G Walkefield and Moses Giddings were elected Directors of the B. & R. National, for the city.

Geo Waterhouse, A C Woodworth, A H Chase and Horace S Stubbs, were chosen Field Drivers under the amendment to the City Charter passed at the last legislature.

MEMORIAL DAY will be celebrated in this vicinity as follows: This forenoon in Brewer, the fall in Mount Hope and at Bucksport. To-morrow at Oldtown and Prospect. Who addresses will be delivered in this city by Prof. Barbour, in Brewer, Bucksport and Prospect by Rev. Dr. Tefft. On Monday we shall give report of the exercises in the city, Brewer and Oldtown, and, perhaps in Buck port and Prospect.

MEMORIAL DAY. The City Government will meet at 9 o'clock P. M. to-day, at City Hall, to perfect the procession. It is requested that the shipping display their flags at half mast all day, in honor of the occasion. Merchant vessels are requested to close their places of business during the ceremonies of the day. The bells of the city will toll from one to two o'clock.

The first train this afternoon to accommodate our citizens who go to attend the ceremonies at Mount Hope will leave the depot, foot of Exchange Street, at 1.30. Fare for the round trip, 15 cents, tickets to be purchased before starting. Another train goes out at 2 o'clock to accommodate the procession.

The procession will not march back after the services, but will return in the train.

The flags should not forget that a large supply of flowers will be needed to-day to decorate the soldiers graves. They should be carried to City Hall this morning at 9 o'clock.

—Union service at the First Congregational Church to-morrow evening. Sermon by Prof. Barbour. Exercises commence at 7 o'clock.

—The Library of the Mechanic Association will be open this evening, at 7½ o'clock, not open in the afternoon at the usual time.

—Rev. O. T. Moulton, of Portland, will preach in the Free Will Baptist House, on Essex Street to-morrow.

—Mr. Sanger Lor, advertised at auction yesterday, has been disposed of at private sale by the auctioneer.

—The locomotive "Roxbury," the first of the Bangor and Piscataquis engines, arrived on the 27th inst.

—Bernard Foley, the armless hero who has been in our city for several days past with his sound organ, exciting the sympathy and receiving the scrip of our citizens, left yesterday for down river. He desires to return his thanks for the uniform kindness which he has met with while here, and for the material aid which has been furnished him.

—Members of the chorus which will take part in the exercises at Mt. Hope to-day, who have not procured their railway tickets, can obtain them of Mr. F. S. Davenport just previous to the starting of the train, which will be promptly at 2 P. M.

—In order to accommodate our upriver friends who desire to see the beautiful exhibition of the Stereopticon, the B. & N. A. Railway train which leaves Milford at 6½ P. M. will return after the close of the Stereopticon exhibition this evening and on Monday evening. One fare for both ways.

MEMORIAL DAY IN OLDTOWN. The Oldtown people are to observe Sunday (30th) for decorating soldiers' graves. The Post of the Grand Army will go up from Bangor, and all are invited to participate in the ceremonies. A special train leaves the B. & O. and M. Railroad depot at 1 o'clock P. M. and fares are reduced for the occasion.

THE STEREOPTICON was attended last evening by a larger audience than has witnessed the exhibition heretofore, and all were highly pleased—indeed they could no have been otherwise. The more one sees of these exhibitions the greater is his desire to see even more. Last evening the views of Paris were very fine, as well also views in our own country, the finest among them being the beautiful Bird family monument in Philadelphia, a work of the highest art, which compares favorably with the works of art, in foreign countries, exhibited by particular request. The exquisitely beautiful representation of the Christian's Dream was also repeated. To-night will be given the romantic scenery of Ireland, including the Lakes of Killarney. A sensation is in store for Monday night.

—The Davenport Brothers are in town, and will exhibit in Norombega Hall next Thursday and Friday. Their performances are wonderful, and we have no doubt will be highly entertaining.

Memorial Day—Order of Procession and Exercises.

CIRCULAR.

HEADQUARTERS POST No. 12,
Dept. of Maine, G. A. R.,
Bangor, May 27, 1869.

The following arrangements have been adopted for the observance of Memorial Day, May 29th, in accordance with General Order No. 21, C. S., National Headquarters.

A procession will be formed on the Hampden Road, the right resting on Union Street, as follows—

Bangor Cornet Band—A. D. Harlow, Leader.

Co. A, State Guards, Capt. Marshall Dyer.

Post No. 12, G. A. R., under command of Sen. Vice Com. J. A. Dole.

Post S. J. Oakes, No. 17, of Oldtown, Commander Geo. A. Manning.

City Government.

Past Mayors.

Monumental Association.

United States Officers and Invited Guests.

Soldiers of 1812.

Heath's Martial Band.

Eagle Engine Co. No. 5—Geo. H. Cutler, Foreman.

Union Hose Company—H. E. Small, Foreman.

Hook and Ladder Company—J. M. Davis, Foreman.

The line will be formed at 1½ P. M., and will move promptly at 20 minutes of 2 o'clock, passing through Main Street to Exchange; through Exchange Street to the Depot of the B. & N. A. Railway, leaving that point on special train at 2 o'clock precisely.

Upon arriving at Mt. Hope, the line will be reformed on the Avenue, inside the grounds, in the above order, and after marching through the Cemetery, will form a square at the Monument, where the following ceremonies will take place—

Prayer, by the Post Chaplain, J. B. Gould.

Remarks by Prof. Wm. M. Barbour.

Performance of Spring Mass by the Peaks Chorus, under direction of F. S. Davenport.

Music by the Band.

Benediction.

Comrades from other Posts, Soldiers of the Regular Army, and Returned Officers and Soldiers, are cordially invited to meet at the Grand Army Hall, in Exchange Block, at 12½ o'clock, and take part in the ceremonies.

The Past Mayors of the City, U. S. Officers, and Soldiers of the War of 1812, are invited to meet at the City Hall at 1 o'clock, to join the procession.

Organizations not above mentioned, who design taking part in the observance of the day, are requested to notify the Post Commander, and positions in the line will be assigned them.

By Order Post Commander,

J. E. SMITH, Adjutant.

MEMORIAL DAY will be celebrated in this vicinity as follows: This forenoon in Brewer, the fall in Mount Hope and at Bucksport. To-morrow at Oldtown and Prospect. Who addresses will be delivered in this city by Prof. Barbour, in Brewer, Bucksport and Prospect by Rev. Dr. Tefft. On Monday we shall give report of the exercises in the city, Brewer and Oldtown, and, perhaps in Buck port and Prospect.

—Memorial Day will be observed in Calais to-day, and in Eastport to-morrow with appropriate ceremonies.

—The Portland Army and Navy Union are taking measures for a proper celebration of their anniversary in an organization, says the Advertiser.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD CASE. The Bath Times says: "The bill in equity, brought some years since in favor of the Kennebec and Portland Railroad Company against the Portland and Kennebec Company, involving the title to the whole line of this road from Augusta to Portland and Bath, is to be argued before the Law Court at Augusta next week. The defendants claim to hold the property by a foreclosure of the mortgage given to secure the second issue of bonds for $200,000 which the plaintiffs undertake to impeach. The present value of the property, which must be risking $3,000,000, will make the case one of unusual importance."

The graduation exercises took place in the Congregational Church, and the diplomas were placed in the hand of the graduates by the Governor, accompanying the act with a few touching remarks and wise advice appropriate.

In the evening President Harris delivered a lecture on Education, in the Universalist church, and after the students held a levee at Normal Hall, which closed the exercises.

The fall term commences August 18th, to continue four weeks.

BUSINESS NOTICES

Mr. Editor:—

Permit me, through your paper, to tender my most grateful thanks to my friends in Bangor and vicinity, for their expression of anxiety and kindness towards me during my late sickness. To each and all of my professional brethren in the city, and to many in the country, I will say that their kindly visits and cheering words are duly appreciated, and will ever be held by me in grateful remembrance. Such acts of sympathy and kindness seem to mitigate the sufferings of humanity, and none but the sick and afflicted can fully estimate their true value. While in health and prosperity man knows not his surroundings, and he floats, as it were, like the mote in the sunbeam regardless of its bounds. But when sickness and adversity befall him, then it is that he realizes his true position, his social relations and his dependence upon his fellow man. Of this I am made fully sensible. Dr. Laughton, the counselling physician, with my son, has the sincere thanks and gratitude of myself and family for the deep interest he manifested in my behalf, and for the skill and science he brought to bear upon my case, for it was only by scientific and heroic treatment that such favorable result could be attained at all.

I will announce to my friends, that I am now convalescent, and hope soon to be able to meet with them and again enjoy their society.

Wishing them all health and happiness, I remain their humble servant,

C. SEAVEY.

FOR.—It is strange how few merchants and professional men who are most successful in their vocation enjoy life. They are entirely wrapped up and absorbed in their particular calling until they lose appetite, become pale, weak and nervous. The discovery of Dr. Street, of Passaic, N.J., combining his native wines with certain proportions of the most valuable Barks, Herbs and Roots, has made a great change among all such men, and also the multitude of weakly females. The use of Dr. Street's Brazilian Wine Bitters gives appetite, brings color to the pale face, they astonish, robust and cheerful, becoming in a degree young again. Persons and families travelling for their health to watering places and to Europe take these Bitters with them. The best tonic known. Sold by Druggists.

Few Publications.

"Good Morning," A Story for Boys, is a new book just published by Henry A. Young & Co., Boston. It is a pathetic moral story, well told, and cannot fail to interest and improve the young people. The class of stories to which this belongs should be in every family, and will result in great benefit to influence the course of the young mind. The book is nicely printed, and illustrated in attractive style. For sale by F. T. Duren.

"Living Questions of the Age," by an "American Citizen," is the title of a new work just published by Charles & Co. of Chicago. The author announces that he endeavors to meet some of the prevailing fallacies of the age in popular manner. He discusses the direct gravity of the skeptical and theological Philosophy, "Liberal Christianity," and many other subjects of a similar nature.—He also enters upon more modern subjects, and discusses reformers, the question of woman's rights, and capital punishment. For sale by D. Burgess & Co.

"The Mississippi Valley" by J. W. Foster, just published by S. C. Griggs & Co., Chicago, is a large 8vo book, handsomely gotten up, which treats of the physical geography of that great valley, including sketches of the topography, botany, climate, geological and mineral resources, and of the progress of development in population and material wealth. The Chicago Tribune says of it: "We have carefully read Col. Foster's book, and we rise from its perusal warmly impressed in its favor, both as a compendium of useful knowledge and as an able and intelligent discussion of the phenomena and and physical forces of the great Mississippi Valley, teeming with its busy millions of people, the agricultural centre of the continent, the granary of the world, holding the key to commerce, and comprehensive, we hope, of the future. The magnificent and grandeur of which no man can estimate." For sale by Burgess & Co.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, June, 1869, contains: "The Aurora Borealis or Polar Light," illustrated; "Lorna," with twenty illustrations; "Ice Lake," Fitz Hugh Ludlow; "Winter on the Prairie," Theodore R. Davis, with eleven illustrations; "Military Photographic of Foreign Days," Jacob Abbott, with seven illustrations; "Said Pacha of Egypt," E. de Leon; "Dollycotton's Armstrong," Mary N. Prescott; "A Comedy Married," Amelia Thomas; "A Brave Lady," author of "John Halifax, Gentleman," with two illustrations; "My Enemy's Daughter," Justin McCarthy, with an illustration, and "Luther," Bayard Taylor; "The Tragedies of a Feathered Family," H. L. Palmer, and many other interesting articles. For sale by G. A. Bartlett and D. Burgess & Co.

Eastern State Normal School—Examination and Graduation Exercises.

The annual examination of the Eastern Normal School, located at Castine, occurred last Tuesday, and the first class of students was graduated Wednesday with appropriate ceremonies. The weather during the holidays was unusual quite a number of strangers from various parts of the State were present. Among them were the Governor, three of the Council, the Superintendent of Common Schools, and President Harris of Bowdoin College.

The examination at Normal Hall passed off quite satisfactorily, the pupils generally acquitting themselves with credit. The whole number of pupils attending during the term just closed is given at 81. Several of these were away engaged in teaching. There are at present three assistant teachers, besides a music teacher.

The graduating class numbered eight, seven of whom were ladies. Most of them are intending to devote themselves immediately to the practice of their chosen profession. The introductory poem, by Miss Stevens, of Machias, entitled "Backward and Forward," was prettily delivered, and contained several passages of feeling and merit. The best essay, in our opinion, was written by Miss Wood, of Penobscot, the next, by Miss Williams, of Belfast. The valedictory, by Thomas N. Lord, of Bluehill, performed his duties in a very creditable and satisfactory manner.

The graduation exercises took place in the Congregational Church, and the diplomas were placed in the hand of the graduates by the Governor, accompanying the act with a few touching remarks and wise advice appropriate.

In the evening President Harris delivered a lecture on Education, in the Universalist church, and after the students held a levee at Normal Hall, which closed the exercises.

The fall term commences August 18th, to continue four weeks.

Flag of My Country.

AN UNPUBLISHED POEM, BY FITZ-GREENE HALLECK, WRITTEN IN CAMP AT GREENVILLE, 1814.

Flag of my country! proudly wave
High in the favorite breeze of heaven,
The rallying-point that forms the brave
When or the battle-words are given.

As when at evening on the deep
From their loved dwelling distant far,
Their anxious eyes the sailors keep,
Fixed on the lorn guide, the Northern star!

So on thy stars, in danger's day,
The warrior turns his daring eye,
And dauntless treads the crimson'd way,
Through hosts of foes to victory.

When first their oath met the foe,
Our fathers bade thee be free!
And long, where slaughter strewed the vale,
They fearless fought and died for thee.

Till England's banner-cross was furled,
And Peace her olive-branch displayed
Then, mid the nations of the world,
They sheathed the conquering blade.

Yet occasions, the trump of War
Has bade thee drench in Peace be!
Again lightning's crimson car
Drives thundering round our hallowed shore.

But shall that day which o'er the billow
So late has woven Britain's laurel-wreath
Which found a deeper pillow,
And wrapped his pall come to death?

Say, shall that day's star shade the state
Of Gallia's fallen throne?
Shall History say, it knew was great,
But scent it fell to—no—more?

No! while within each manly breast
Burns one faint spark of Victor's flame
While Glory lifts its glittering crest,
And Hope points the path to fame,

While spring adorns with flowers its fane
Their grave where to our fathers fell—
So long its stars shall bless and shine,
So long to heaven's throne swell,

Flag of my country! proudly wave,
Nor dread thy navy's hold command,
While nobly fight the good and brave
For Freedom and their native land.

Grace Darling and Ida Lewis.

Thirty-seven years ago, just at the dawn of a stormy September morning, Grace Darling, the heroic daughter of the Longstone light-house keeper on the English coast, launched a boat upon the raging tide, and rescued, with her reluctant father's aid, and at the imminent peril of her life, nine persons from the disastrous wreck of the Forfarshire steamer. Deeds of heroism and noble act, done in her twenty-third year, praises and rewards were heaped upon her in unstinted measure—a fund of $4500 was subscribed for her benefit, the remaining four years of her life were crowded with every comfort, and her name has passed into a current usage as a synonym for an unselfish and heroic woman.

A few weeks since toward the close of a stormy March afternoon, Ida Lewis, the intrepid daughter of the Lime Rock light-house keeper, in Newport, (R. I.) Harbor, performed a deed that places her side by side, in point of self-sacrificing courage, with Grace Darling, and stands a chance of even greater usefulness to the saving of human life. The rain fell that day in blinding torrents, and the gale drove the waves across the harbor, with a fury that taxed the whole strength and skill of the most experienced boatmen. In the midst of this storm, a reckless boy, scarcely 14 years old, who had somehow obtained possession of one of the smallest and most unsafe sail boats in the harbor, (since christened the 'coffin,') a drowner, succeeded in persuading two soldiers, sergeant James Adams, and John McLaughlin, to let him carry them across from the city, whither they had gone to make some purchases, to Fort Adams, where they were stationed.

Anxious to escape the dreary three miles tiding by land, and believing the lad's assertion that he could manage the boat as well as any one, they trusted themselves to it and made half the trip in safety, but about midway in the harbor a sudden blast struck the sail, the startled boy jammed the helm hard to the second direction, the boat capsized in an instant, and the waves rolled it twice over, like the veriest cockle-shell. For a long half hour its luckless occupants clung to the keel and wrestled against the blinding rain and the fierce sea with all the energy of despair; but finally the boy's strength was exhausted, his hold relaxed—one clutch at McLaughlin's shoulder, and, with a frenzied laugh upon his lips he was gone! Long has any trace of him since been seen. Most paralyzing with cold and almost beyond hope the two soldiers saw no choice left but to clasp each other in a last embrace, and sink to a watery grave, when suddenly, out from the Lime Rock, half a mile away, shot a little boat, driven by rapid strokes and sure, straight over the pounding waves toward the drowning men.

Hope kindled in their breast again, but faded when they saw in the boat only a slender youth, and a still slenderer woman plying the oars. On it swiftly came, however, and the boy was almost reaching over the side to grasp the nearest soldier when his quick-witted sister cried, 'Stop, Hosey! we shall be capsized in that way!' turned the boat with a well-timed stroke, backed it up, the man was drawn safely over the stern, another backward pull, another lift, and the moment's delay, the draft with its freight of rescued lives, was scudding swiftly through the spray back to the Rock again. The sergeant was able to stagger on shore, but private McLaughlin had to be carried into the light-house, where both were tended with unceasing care and kindness, and were safely conveyed to Fort Adams the next day.

The heroine of this daring exploit was born Feb. 25, 1842, and is thus, in her 28th year, but her first rescue of imperiled life dates back to September, 1858, when she was only 17. Since that time she has saved eleven lives. In the opinion of the best judges, no more or more fearless heroine than Ida Lewis ever found a place in the annals of any humane society on either side of the Atlantic, and none more unselfish ever received honors from those whose position or wealth enables them to crown meritorious acts with suitable rewards.

Olive Logan has got into trouble with the people whom she calls the 'dress-reform scarecrows.' At the recent meeting of the Equal Rights Association in New York, Miss Logan appeared elegantly attired in blue silk covered with a white gauze skirt, with her hair bound up compactently on the back of her head except some dozen curls falling upon her neck and shoulders, and made the following little speech:

There are thousands of women in this country who could easily be converted to believe in the great truths of this cause but who are repelled from it by an idea that its disciples are a sorrowful and solemn sisterhood, full of lamentation and wailing, and abuse of the other sex—cynical, selfish, and generally (Laughter.) Now, if there is anything which I thoroughly believe it is cheerfulness, and joy—(applause)—and I take plenty of the faithful which agree fully. As for the creature men, I think, on earth I admire so immensely man, unless it be a woman; and I don't wonder that so intelligent and cultivated women as I am satisfied with the cause, so the idea prevails that the older and more unsexed members of the two sexes. I put upon myself so indignantly the wearing trousers is a part of the cause of a Woman's Rights woman, and yet the trousers with contempt and This idea that the Woman's Rights movement includes indorsement of all the cranks of all who believe in right of the suffrage for women, is one which needs to be exploded. It not only does injustice to numberless ladies who love the cause, but it repels thousands of women who would otherwise unite with us.

One of the 'scarecrows,' attempts to weak the force of this sensible talk by calling Miss Logan a 'former ballad singer,' in a letter to the Sun, to which the dignant Olive replies: 'The Boghole Bugle calls me 'ballet girl.' A country paper calls me a negress, and the New York Mail pronounced me an Indian. They are all wrong; I am a Japanese, and was formerly clown to the King of the Cannibal Islands.'

A correspondent of the Boston Journal, who says there are many who cannot pay the fee to the Coliseum Festival week, makes the following proposition for a grand out-door sing: 'Let the whole multitude there assembled, singers and musicians, choirs and bands, and the volunteer escort, civil, musical, and military proceed on the 17th of June to Bunker Hill in grand procession, and together sing 'America,' the 'Star Spangled Banner,' 'Hail Columbia,' and such other patriotic airs as the occasion may suggest. The memory of such a day would last forever.'

PARIS SCANDAL! Matters will come to light, and it is amusing to observe when she meets her friend abroad. She has brought with her one sterling British quality, which certainly be exercised in another company, but which, given two British matrons, never fails to come into play. Send people indeterminately call this quality—gossip.

'My dear Mrs. A., how did you get on with Paris?'

'Oh, not at all, my dear; it is horrible. Our washing is wrotched; dong, think! the blanchisseuse washed all the buttons of Mr. A.'s best shirt, which I have to wear to Lord Fiddledeedee's; and the dinners are dreadful, so spiced over in the last! And how horribly insolent the garçons are, to be sure!—staring and grinning at one all the time. And, my dear Angelica, how they cheat us English! They think we were made of gold!'

'Yes, oh yes! But, dear, did you see the Empress to-day in the Bois?'

'No. Is she not fine-looking as they say?'

'Well, yes-es, perhaps she is. I've seen her several times. May be, though, she is a little too fine-looking. I would dare to the world repeat what Lady Anne Chiffrey told me—Lady Anne is such a quiz, you know—really! Ha! ha! ha!'

'Oh now, you must really tell me! Now do, please!'

'Well—but I never repeat it, you know—it is such a odd story. Lady Anne, as you know, is a lady-in-waiting to the French quite a long time, and, of course, no one's people dared to tell her. But, you know, people dared—well, I mean, one who people dared—well, I mean, one who people dared—well, I mean, one who
